Talk on Friday – Critical Race Theory Guest Lecturer Talk. 4/25

Last year, students proposed to the faculty that we get a critical race faculty hire. The faculty did interview and offer a critical race candidate. She turned down the offer. Students need to continue to show support for this type of faculty or the idea will go away. Our job is to keep the faculty on task and let them know we are still interested. We need people to go to this talk.

Member Appreciation Dinner at Bandung 4/24

1L, 2L, and 3L/4L of the year and book scholarship winners will be announced. Applications for the book scholarship due Monday.

Bhangra Party at Tutto Pasta on King St. 4/26 next Saturday

Volunteers are needed to help man the doors. Volunteers will get free admission. If there is profit at the end, we'll get a donation if we have volunteers.

Bowling and Pizza at Union South on 4/30 at 7 pm

Final A/S event which used to be a LAF only event. Now it is open to everyone to get people involved with LAF. A/S will pay.

Human Rights Walk – 1st Farmer's Market from Capital to the Library Mall

Recaps:

MELSA – LEO Banquet – a success and we'll be doing it next year

Asian Voices Conference – few members put effort in this good event.

When we apply for SBA funding, we talk about the variety of events we do such as this one. This event involves the outside community and is educational promotion. Hopefully, we can do it again next yr.

NASALSA Recap – Matthew Puthukulum report – he got money from A/S as he is dues paying member. The meeting was President's day weekend at the UCLA law school. It was good. Sessions included: Networking and in house counsel sessions, Non-traditional career – professional philanthropist. He would recommend going to a formal bar sponsored meeting as opposed to the student bar run meeting (like the one he attended). At the formal bar, there will be more professionals who are there for CLE credits.

Apparel Sale – we made $3000 in sales due to great member volunteers who signed up to man the table. We will be distributing next week.

1L event – great success – pictures on the website

LEO Update – the townhouse, then follow up meetings happened this year. We drafted a letter to the Dean. We will be on the Dean’s calender before exams. There were 5 main summary points being discussed throughout the year. The idea to create a LEO executive council is one. An amendment will be added to the bylaws in the fall to account for this council.

Academic survey – if it takes off, it may be a coveted resource

Service Credit Hours – After tonight, the new board will take over. Hopefully in the summer, they can make 3 different proposals. At the first meeting in the fall, the members can vote on the option to implement or not implement. The purpose of the service credit hours is to dedicate the efforts of the members to come to events.
